Let's Start!

Let's go to the Dead Sea!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about people's jobs and places of work in communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about geographic features.
- I can say where places are in a country.
- I can compare two things.

Ask your partner:

- Do you prefer to swim in salty ocean water or a pool? Why?
- What do you like best about swimming?

Let's Explore!

Sally takes a mud bath at the Dead Sea.

* A "mud bath" is a mineral scrub with mud from the Dead Sea.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally's Suitcase

The Dead Sea is the lowest spot on the earth. Where is it? It lies between Israel and Jordan. It is about 1,300 feet below sea level. It's saltier than most lakes, and the water is denser. Even people who can't swim can float! There are no fish or plants here. That is why they call it the Dead Sea.

I'm staying in a beautiful hotel. It's a health spa with special baths. The spas here are larger and more luxurious than at home! People come here to feel better and get healthier. They stay for a week or even longer!

Today I went swimming in the Dead Sea. It was amazing. The water was very warm and it felt like oil. You would love it!

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Comparatives

You use the comparative form to compare two things.

The comparative form ends in -er: taller.

The word more is used with longer words: more beautiful.

You can use the comparative with a noun: a bigger car, his car was older.

You can use the comparative with than: his house is larger than my house, this dress is more expensive than that one.

Examples:

- It's is saltier than most lakes.
- The water is denser.

Functional Language

When you ask where things are, you use polite questions.

When you say where things are, you often use prepositions of place.

Asking Where Things Are	Saying Where Things Are
Can you tell me ... ? I'd like to know ... Do you know where ... ? Where is ... ?	It is between ... They are below ... He is in ... They are at ...

Examples:

- It lies between Israel and Jordan.
- It is about 1,300 feet below sea level.
- He went swimming in the Dead Sea.
